

Wisconsin Region of Phi Theta Kappa

Chapter Leadership Academy

May 30-June 1, 2019 • Stevens Point, Wisconsin

Hosted by Mid-State Technical College

ACADEMY KEYNOTE SPEAKER

Featuring: Allison Cooley

As an honor student, you have already shown that you have “book smarts,” but when it comes to leading others, your emotional intelligence may be even more important. Allison Cooley from Effectability.net will help attendees take their leadership skills to the next level through development of emotional intelligence.

CONFERENCE HIGHLIGHTS

Emotional Intelligence Focus : Learn what emotional intelligence means—and why it's so important! A self-assessment will help you identify areas of strength and opportunities for improvement. Then you can choose workshops to help you strengthen key areas.

Phi Theta Kappa Training : Learn more about Phi Theta Kappa programs and projects that will help you grow and your chapter be successful! Participate in setting your chapter's Five Star Goal, identify strategies for membership recruitment and engagement, and learn about PTK projects to complete throughout the year.

Fun and Fellowship : Network and share ideas with other student leaders from throughout Wisconsin—not to mention our Friday night fellowship activity. You'll enjoy outdoor teambuilding activities while making new friends!

Breakout Sessions for Individualized Growth : Once you've identified opportunities for improvement, you can expand your horizons by attending a variety of interactive breakout sessions designed to help you grow. You'll leave this conference with personal insights and strategies to help you continue your leadership development.

All attendees will receive a certificate of completion for their professional portfolio as well as a copy of Daniel Goleman's groundbreaking book, Emotional Intelligence: Why it Can Matter More than IQ.
